

GEOG 314: RESEARCH SEMINAR IN SOCIAL GEOGRAPHY

SHIFTING VALUES AND OTHER FUTURES: NEO-LIBERALISM, DEVELOPMENT, AND THE DEFENSE OF SOCIETY

Dr. John Pickles
Earl N. Phillips Distinguished Chair of International Studies
Department of Geography
The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Spring 2006
Wed 5.15-8pm
SA 204

Instructor: Dr. John Pickles <jpickles@unc.edu>

This is reading/writing research seminar and has four primary goals:

1. Reading: every week we will focus discussion on key work(s) in and important for contemporary social and economic geography.
2. Writing: the seminar will function as a writing seminar, by which I mean we will be reading each others writing, discussing it, commenting on it, and revising several drafts of pieces in preparation. These might be research proposals, papers for publication, or chapters.
3. Research: both the writing and research components of the seminar will, at all times, be directed towards developing research ideas, researchable questions, and research projects and proposals. In this regard, the seminar's primary goal is to create a group that engages with the research interests and practices of other members of the seminar.
4. Integration: the seminar is designed to work on themes and issues that will be developed in parallel in related inter-disciplinary reading and research groups, especially the UPCS Cultures of Economies Research Group, the Social Movements Research Group, and the New Cartographies Research Group. There is no requirement that students also participate in these other groups.
